Sustaining Membership

Sustaining Membership is the highest level of corporate distinction within The Society. This level demonstrates a corporation’s commitment to invest in their profession by financially supporting the educational initiatives of The Engineering Society of Detroit. To be considered a Sustaining Member, your corporation commits a minimum of $3,000 above your appropriate dues level—this portion of your membership is considered a charitable contribution to the Society.
Whether you’re a consulting firm of one or a corporation of thousands, ESD will add value to your corporate culture. Many of these corporate benefits can be shared with your employees:

- Company name listed in every issue of TechCentury magazine, priority given to your articles, announcements and news releases, receive a 25% advertising discount
- Your company name listed and hyperlinked in electronic communication and on the ESD Web site
- Recognition at ESD events
- Discounted registration to all ESD events
- Substantial savings on insurance, office supplies, and other services through ESD partners
- Discounts on job postings at the ESD Job Bank, jobs.esd.org
- Reduced meeting room rates at ESD’s Southfield facility
- Free subscriptions to Crain’s Detroit Business for each corporate representative
